Bay of Bengal

A cyclone accompanied by tremendous thunderstorms swept across the Bay of Bengal and headed for the Coast at the mouth of the Ganges. Up to 200 miles from its center, ships at sea had their masts splintered. It was ebb-tide along the Coast, the receding water was seized by the broad high sweep of the cyclone and a gigantic tidal wave reared itself up. It burst into the Ganges area and sea water 50 ft high swept inland - 14.1 square miles were burned and 215,100 people died

Custer's Last Stand

About 3,500 Sioux and Cheyenne warriors under chief Sitting Bull (c 1831 - Dec 15, 1890) and Crazy Horse (c 1840 - Sep 15, 1877) massacred cavalry troopers under Gen. George A. Custer (I believe he was Lt. Col at this time, called Gen. from Civil War days) at battle of Little Bighorn in Montana; U.S. Army's worst defeat during long bloody Indian Wars.
